

Pilot Project A: A Smoking Cessation Intervention for Oncology Clinics in Puerto Rico - A Pilot Trial
Co-leaders: Drs. Elba Díaz (UPR) and Jan Blalock (MDACC)

The overall goal of the tobacco cessation intervention is to pilot test a smoking cessation intervention for cancer patients who are currently undergoing treatment that combines Clinical Practice Guidelines-based brief counseling delivered by oncology staff at in the oncology clinic setting (BIC) with additional counseling delivered via a telephone quitline service (BIC+); and to conduct evaluation of the feasibility of study procedures.
